2007 Minneapolis Area Synod Assembly

June 1, 2007

In the middle of setting up for the rummage sale, I had the honor of attending the 2007 Minneapolis Area Synod Assembly held at Gustavus Adolphus in St. Peter as a voting member representing St. Paul's congregation. The most important item of business was the election of the Bishop. Earlier in the month, a pre-assembly meeting had been held. All of the resolutions (called memorials) were explored and the process of the Bishop's election explained.

Bishop Craig Johnson was re-elected on the first ballot. Pastor Heather Hammond, who has been working with St. Paul's Transition Team, was nominated from the floor on Friday, but withdrew the nomination before the first ballot.

Business included approving the budget and elected other officers. Social issues voted on included immigration reform, condemnation of torture, a MN without poverty, Global Warming and Change, and the Liberian refugees extension. All memorials relating to clergy conduct in definitions and guidelines for discipline, and vision and expectations, and the ELCA by-laws, were passed. There was "polite" and thorough discussion of both sides of all the issues.

Professor David Tiede of Augsburg College led a most thought provoking Bible Study of Galacians 1:1-10 and 3:15-28.

Because of the quickness of the election of the Bishop, all of the business of the synod was completed in one day. It was a most interesting day.

Additionally, I sat with Dorothy Swanson during the Assembly. Dorothy extends greetings to all.

COUNCIL NEWS

2007 Spring Congregation Meeting Highlights

At 10:45 a.m., on Sunday, June 3rd, the 2007 Spring Congregation Meeting was held. It was preceded by recognition of ALL the members of St. Pauls who have been active in this transition period – celebrating success – recognition of All the volunteers who make St. Paul's a family.

The most important business at the meeting was the passage of the resolution to formally commence the call process for a new Pastor. The resolution first authorized the Search Committee, which has been named, and then assigned it the task of completing the congregation profile which will be sent to the Synod, and writing the job description for St. Paul's new Pastor.

Tom Larson did a power point presentation reviewing all the notes from the cottage meetings and the soup suppers before the introduction of the motion. This helped the forty-seven members in attendance understand what had been accomplished in the past year and why. (A complete set of notes is available in the church office.)

Year-end Ministry Team reports were a part of the program, as was the Treasurer's Report. The survey to find out congregation interests in social issues was distributed. All members are asked to complete one, and those who did not attend will have a form sent to them. This will be used to plan 2007-2008 activities

Respectfully submitted,
Jan Questchow

St. Paul's Council meets at 7:00 PM, the 2nd Tuesday of each month. Congregation members are welcome to attend and/or submit items for the agenda by contacting one of the Council members.

Highlights of the June Council meeting:

St. Paul's Council met on Tuesday, June 12, 2007. This was the organizational meeting for the 2007-2008 year. The members are Carolyn Carpenter, Phil Eckhert, Britta Moe, Vince Jacobson, Jan Guetschow, Darla Gilbertson, Ryan Foss, Mary Hromatka, and Pastor Glen Floe. They will continue to meet on the second Tuesday of each month.

Vince Jacobson will serve as President of the Council. Mary Hromatka will be Vice President. Darla Gilbertson has agreed to serve as Secretary. Assignments to Committees will be done at the next meeting. Each council member signed up for Sunday and monthly tasks.

Pastor Floe reminded the group to set a date for their installation. He then reported on the Pastoral work he has been doing. The Treasurer's report will be made next month.

Following up on the motion passed at the Spring Congregation meeting, the Council has voted to put aside $1,000 to begin the process of updating the phone system. We will search for companies that work with small businesses and get a minimum of three quotes. It is hoped that there is some expertise within the congregation to assist with this necessary work.

The Search Committee will hold its first meeting on Monday evening, June 18th at 7 pm. This is the beginning of a most important and exciting year!

Respectfully submitted,
Jan Questchow

REMINDER: August newsletter items are due in the office Sunday, July 15.

May 2007

Dear Church Leader:

We would like to thank you and your church for your presence in the greater Minneapolis area and your contribution to our community. Strong churches mean strong communities. So many churches in our area give generously in so many ways to feed the hungry, house the homeless, visit the imprisoned, care for the elderly, support our youth, and much more.

Our concern today focuses on the youth of our community. As most of us are aware, youth involvement in crime tends to escalate during the summer months. We would like to see summer programming and other opportunities made available that will help challenged youth in our community develop new skills, engage in productive activities, find effective role models, and form positive relationships with others.

In the enclosed Star and Tribune article from May 17th we read about the increase in youth violence. We believe faith communities can change lives in ways that others cannot because of the relational aspect of our work.

We also became aware that some of the congregations on the front line of this work, many located in Minneapolis neighborhoods with a high concentration of high risk youth, are often strapped for resources – both financial and human -- to be as effective as they could be.

We write today to ask your congregation to consider investing in the youth of today to create safer communities for tomorrow. There are a variety of ways to invest in youth. The Greater Minneapolis Council of Churches has a youth mentoring program that matches youth who are either on probation or coming home from a correctional facility. They also work with Kinship to match an adult with a youth who has a parent who is incarcerated. This program requires a commitment of 4 hours a month to make a difference in a young person's life. If you would like a speaker for your faith community on these issues or have other ideas Please contact Hillary Freeman (hfreeman@gmcc.org or 612-721-8687, extension 332, or 612-673-2892) or Lori Merriewether (imerriewether@gmcc.org or 612-721-8687, extension 318) for further information or if you would like to help.

Working together across the faith community, and in partnership with government, we can join our resources to head off potential unrest in our communities this summer that threatens to damage young people's lives and impact all of our communities. We appreciate all you are doing and look forward to your participation in these efforts to support our youth.

Sincerely,

Mayor R.T. Rybak Timothy J. Dolan Rev. Gary B. Reiersen, President

Garage Sale Results

The "?" Annual Garage Sale held at St. Paul's on June 2nd was as successful as a beautiful, busy day in early June could have been. As of today, the combined amount raised by the rummage sale, bake sale, and car wash is approximately $1,250. There continues to be a few dollars trickling in, and with the match from Thrivent Financial, this is truly very good.

Yes, it was realized as plans were started that the date was just a bit late. With the enthusiasm of the youth and the great support of those who donated items, the success can be measured by all of those who volunteered and worked together as part of the St. Paul's family.

Special thanks go to Rachael Larson who coordinated the activity; Michael Smith who generated lots of ideas, signs, and enthusiasm; Dale and Laura Eggert who were masters at arranging and pricing items; Ruth Thompson for having half of her garage available for storage; and ALL the others who made this event worthwhile and fun.

Suggestions for the next garage sale include holding it earlier in the year, timing it to coincide with more of the community sales, and having it on the church calendar sooner. Hopefully, this can be done. We can all start saving for next year! Thank you ALL for the help you have given. Anyone ready to step up to be chairperson?

ELW Dedication Day

On June 17, we dedicated the new ELW (Evangelical Lutheran Worship) books. In order to make room for the new books, we removed both the LBW (green book) and the With One Voice (blue book) from the pews. These books will go into storage at church until we decide what to do with them. If you would like to purchase a copy of the LBW or WOV for personal use or if you would like back the copy you originally donated to the church please contact

jennimac@excite.com, 952-929-9180.

Thank you to all of you who donated to make it possible for us to purchase new worship books for St. Paul's.

THANK YOUs

THANK YOU!

• Handy People: Darold Hanson, John Riggle, and Roger Ramsden for persistence in the seemingly unending task of window painting, as well as repairing the youth room wall, and addressing outside drainage issues.

• Maxine Rieman for weekly cleaning and organizing of the church/worship space.

• Ruth Johnson for caring for our flowerbeds and altar arraignments.

• Lisa Foss and Darcie Rodman for the coordination, planning, and implementation of the June 18 – 22 Tri-congregation half-day Vacation Bible School.

• St. Paul's Council, support members, Ministry Teams, and Search Committee for all the research required to submit reports and make a presentation with informed recommendations at the Spring Congregation Meeting on June 2.

'Gunplay' among youths worries police

Minneapolis police, concerned about violent antics by young robbers, want to combine efforts with community, school and church groups to get guns out of the hands of the youths.

By Chao Xiong, Star Tribune
Last update: May 16, 2007 – 9:28 PM

Emboldened robbers are increasingly thrusting their guns against victims' heads or clicking the trigger for "kicks" as the volatile mix of guns and youth becomes a growing problem on Minneapolis streets, said Police Chief Tim Dolan. The perpetrators of this "gunplay" are most often men in their teens to early 20s on the prowl for cash and credit cards, police said.

It's a trend that has threatened Dolan's own officers. Between April 20 and May 14, police said there have been an unprecedented five officer-involved shootings, meaning either an officer or a suspect fired a firearm at the other. No one died, but in the last seven years it is the highest number of officer-involved shootings recorded from the start of the year to May 14. In four of the 2007 cases, the suspects ranged from age 14 to 20.

"I know it's been on the lips of everyone I talk to," said police spokeswoman Lt. Amelia Huffman. "They just hope that it's not a portent of things to come."

Police and community activists said they're gearing up to brainstorm and roll out programs to discourage gun violence and take guns off Minneapolis streets. "There are way more guns on the streets than we realize," said Shane Price, coordinator of the African American Men Project. "We have an epidemic on our hands where our young people are concerned."

Price is organizing a gun buyback program for late summer. He said two buyback programs last year, which were supported by other community groups, corporations and police, netted 352 guns. Minneapolis police have sized 316 guns this year, mostly through search warrants, traffic stops, arrests and stops of suspicious people. In 2006, the department seized 995 guns, up 10 percent from 2005, according to police.

Dolan plans to meet with community activists and school and church leaders soon to discuss outreach efforts. Preliminary ideas include television ads, ministrations in church and encouraging parents to get rid of BB guns that mimic firearms.

Dolan also wants to create a set of guidelines for police precincts that would allow citizens to drop off guns anonymously, as they can at gun buybacks. There is no police protocol for the process now; Dolan said people are usually asked for their name if they stop in to drop off a gun. Precincts have accepted guns before, Huffman said

Although statistics were not available, Dolan said the number of incidents in which robbers shoot live rounds near victims or butt guns against victims' heads and click the trigger without firing has been on the increase starting this past winter. "I think it's for fun," he said. "For kicks." Dolan said it doesn't appear that the robbers are using the gunplay to get victims to comply. It's unclear what has caused the escalation in aggression. Police and community activists fingered everything from TV to video games to popular music. One thing is certain, they said: Too many guns are falling into young and irresponsible hands.

"It's critical now that our community step up to the plate and say we can't tolerate this kind of behavior," said Al Flowers, a member of the Police Community Relations Council.

According to police, 10 people have been charged in Minneapolis' 21 murders this year. Nine of the defendants – all in handgun-related murders – are men under 25, police said. In the officer-involved shootings: Monday night a 16-year-old carjacking and robbery suspect pointed a rifle at Sgt. Don Smulski. The officer fired at the suspect and missed. The teen was later arrested.

About 2 a.m. Saturday, officer James Buirns shot and critically wounded Jeremy J. Harris, 27, who allegedly shot and killed another man at the 4th Street Saloon that morning. Harris had pointed his gun at Buirns, police said. Harris was upgraded to serious condition Wednesday.

Three shootings occurred in late April. One incident involved a sawed-off shotgun and an exchange of gunfire. In another case, an officer was eating lunch at a bar when he shot at two masked robbers. On April 20, a 14-year-old pointed a gun at an officer, whose gun jammed when he tried to fire. The juvenile fled; the gun was a replica.

"It would be really nice if it was an odd coincidence," Dolan said of the shootings. "But at this time, we have to treat it as a trend."

Arthritis Foundation

Self-Help Program Leader Training will be held July 12-13, 8:30 am – 4:30 pm

This 6-week program from Stanford University teaches people with arthritis to manage pain and fatigue through good nutrition, relaxation, working with health care providers, physical activity, and social support. In Minnesota, participants who have completed the program report a significant decrease in pain and fatigue and an improvement in their ability to walk across flat ground and get in and out of vehicles. Leaders for this program typically are either people with arthritis or people with a health background. If one or more members is interested in becoming trained, please contact the Arthritis Foundation North Central Chapter at 651-644-4108 or email lmiddleton@arthritis.org. Due to a grant from the Minnesota Department of Health and the Centers for Disease Control, this training is offered free of charge.

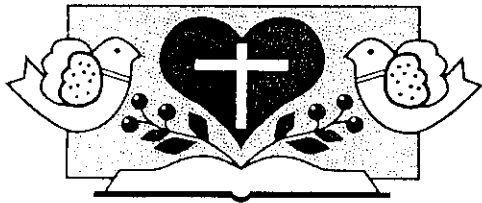

Leader/Instructor application is available in the church office.

Carl Anderson

brother to Ella and Solveig Anderson passed away June 3. The funeral service and burial were held in Eau Claire, Wisconsin on Friday, June 8.

Charles Peterson

brother to Ruth Johnson, passed away June 7. The funeral service was held in St. Cloud, Minnesota on Thursday, June 21.
